EARLY GETYSBURG DISPLAY BY JOSHUA BANE. The Civil War bullet caused tremendous casualties and incredible suffering to many brave soldiers. Wartime field hospitals reports indicated that as much as ninety percent of battle wounds were caused by small arms projectiles. For that reason, it is the ultimate relic and representation of the soldiers who fought in the war that determined America's national character.

Multiple dents on one side of a bullet are sometimes suggested as ramrod marks, but no ramrod marks have yet been identified with confidence on Civil War bullets in England, and it may be that the wooden ramrods of the time are not hard enough to leave a mark (Foard 2009, 23). In theory, the marks should be overlapping curved indentations on one side of the ball.
